

MARC SCHNEIDERMAN, DIRECTOR,
ARLINGTON RESIDENTIAL HAS CONTINUED TO BE

A TRUSTED VOICE ON THE LONDON PROPERTY MARKET

Below is a selection of articles he has contributed to which we hope are of interest. We now have the green light to commence marketing appraisals, valuations and viewings albeit with new safety measures in place for some time to come.

We wish you well in these very difficult and uncertain times.

Marc MARC SCHNEIDERMAN DIRECTOR

PLEASE CLICK ON THE PUBLICATION NAME
TO VIEW THE FULL ONLINE ARTICLE

The skill of a good agent is to understand the intricacies of the market, to know who are the strongest buyers and how best to advise clients.

CITYAM.COM

“Notwithstanding this current crisis, never before in my 35 years as an agent can I recall so many sales on behalf of banks and mortgagees in possession” he says.

ESTATEAGENTTODAY.CO.UK

As a result of this live video tour, in which they were walked through every room, we have agreed terms on the sale, subject only to survey. The buyers are happy to exchange contracts without seeing the house.

METRO.NEWS

Since early March, Marc Schneiderman, director at Arlington Residential, says he has received 15 “credible inquiries” from Chinese buyers looking in upmarket areas of north London

FT.COM

“They have been waiting for a house to become available in this street – which has just seven houses - for over a year and they felt that if they procrastinated, the sellers might change their mind. Terms have been agreed on the basis of a nine-month delayed completion.”

He adds that he has seen more interest from buyers willing to purchase sight unseen in the last 10 days than at any other time in his agency’s 26 year history.

TELEGRAPH.CO.UK

“The client has spent four years creating what I can only describe as simply the ultimate indoor facility. It’s nothing short of breathtaking.”

TELEGRAPH.CO.UK